

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates. The cable ownership cap is a crucial element of our democratic media, and it should not be weakened.

It saddens me that the FCC would move thusly in this post-September 11th climate.

While the rest of Americans are remembering what is REALLY important in their lives, you are working unabatedly in the interests of two or three indescribably massive multinational corporations.

For shame!
